

MARKETING GUIDELINES

This document outlines the essential requirements for your user interfaces, marketing materials, and all public-facing marketing content, such as websites, social media channels and press releases. It includes recommendations to help ensure compliance with these guidelines, tailored to various types of messages.

Any significant deviation from these guidelines may negatively impact user experience, undermine trust internally within RedotPay and externally between RedotPay and our partners, and potentially lead to regulatory consequences. RedotPay reserves the right to take appropriate action, including instructing the removal of non-compliant marketing materials if necessary.

These guidelines do not constitute legal or regulatory advice. You should seek independent legal or regulatory counsel. Any approvals granted by RedotPay on marketing materials are strictly based on these guidelines and do not guarantee compliance with other legal or regulatory requirements. These guidelines may be updated or amended from time to time, and RedotPay will communicate any such updates to you.

These guidelines apply to any marketing of RedotPay's products and/or services. If you're not offering RedotPay's products and/or services to your customers or users, these guidelines do not apply.

1. All Messages

All public-facing materials should be customer-centric, using clear and understandable language. Disclosures about product and service limitations must be clear, conspicuous, and not buried within unrelated text. Ensure that customers are not confused, misrepresented, or misled by your products or services.

Evaluate all marketing materials from the perspective of a "common customer" to ensure fairness, clarity, and accuracy. Marketing must present both benefits and relevant risks equally.

All statements must be factual, with no significant omissions. Misleading statements or omissions are those likely to influence product choice or perception, such as pricing, and must be disclosed in the main message.

Unfair, deceptive, or misleading practices are strictly prohibited. RedotPay will consider how a reasonable customer would interpret or react to a statement, omission, act, or practice. If RedotPay determines that content is unfair, deceptive, or misleading, you will be required to remove it.

Any claims suggesting that our products can facilitate unlawful conduct are strictly prohibited.

2. Product/Feature Claims

When marketing product/feature or promotion activity, ensure that:

- Claims are true, accurate, and consistent with user experience.
- Promotion details include clear participation mechanics, winner selection, terms and conditions.
- Claims made regarding our products must not imply or suggest any connection to unlawful activities. Misleading associations are strictly prohibited.
- Statements or advertised claims must be factual, verifiable, and substantiated by evidence.
- Important feature limitations are disclosed to prevent misleading claims.
- Exaggerated claims or puffery are avoided.
- Avoid unqualified or absolute terms like “the first,” “best,” “every,” “always,” “only,” “never,” “guaranteed,” “always protected,” or “most secure,” “anywhere,” “anytime,” unless claims are substantiated, fair, clear, and not misleading.
- Competitive claims should be independently validated. Ensure explanations to qualifying claims are clearly tied to those claims. Comparisons should be meaningful, fair and respectful.
- Do not mention Visa or MasterCard, unless with prior approvals by Visa or Mastercard.
- Do not comment about RedotPay’s profits or financial health, unless with prior management approvals.
- Avoid commenting on regulators or contents related to local regulations and practices like tax.

3. Key Information Disclosure

Ensure that marketing materials:

- Clearly state key terms for informed customer decisions.

- Marketing materials must not imply that our products can be used for illegal purposes or activities.
- Do not omit key information affecting customers' understanding of product claims.
- Do not advertise products as free if charges or fees apply.
- Do not suggest global card issuance capabilities.
- Avoid claims that products are denominated in or backed by stablecoins, virtual assets, or cryptocurrencies.
- Clearly communicate important limitations or conditions on product terms.
- Do not guarantee outcomes or make implied promises.
- Accurately represent where a card can be used.

4. Disparaging Remarks

You are prohibited from making disparaging remarks about other financial products, including debit cards, credit cards, bank accounts, or financial institutions.

5. Using Visa Brands in Marketing

Any mention of Visa in advertising, marketing, or press releases may require Visa's pre-approval. Visa may ask RedotPay to halt its relationship with you if you do not comply with the following:

- Do not suggest collaboration with Visa in marketing your products and/or services.
- Do not associate Visa's name with virtual assets or cryptocurrencies.
- Do not use Visa's brand in plural, possessive, or verb form.
- Include Visa's trademark statement where applicable.
- Envelopes and mailers should be plain to avoid revealing the presence of a card.
- Follow naming conventions when using Visa's name (e.g., "ABC Visa® Platinum Business").
- Use Visa's superscript registration mark (®) the first time it is mentioned.

Do Not Use:

- Visa, VISA's
- "collaborated with VISA", "worked with VISA", "powered by VISA" or "driven by VISA"
- "Certified by Visa," "Approved by Visa," "Crypto Visa Card"

- “Spending Cryptocurrencies with Visa Card” or “Use Visa Card to Spend Your Cryptocurrencies”

For additional Visa network rules, refer to Visa's Brand Guidelines and Visa Brand Mark

6. Using of Third-Party Mobile Wallet Brands (Google Pay) in Marketing

- Do not use third-party wallet brand names, logos, icons, UI, or design elements without prior written approval from the provider.
- Avoid wording, visuals, or colors that imply integration, endorsement, or compatibility (incl. hashtags, keywords, promotions).
- Use only neutral terms like “contactless payments,” “mobile wallets,” “mobile payments” — never terms tied to a specific provider.
- Where approved, please inform RedotPay marketing and legal team to align on our direction. It should follow the official brand usage guidelines of the third-party wallet provider. E.g. Google Pay and Apple Pay

7. Avoid These Terms and Claims

- No KYC
- Visa
- “Open An Account & Obtain A Card with No KYC”
- “Get an Anonymous Card without Passing Any KYC”
- “Get a Visa Card That Is Denominated In Stablecoins or Virtual Assets or Cryptocurrencies”
- “Get a Crypto Card That Is Backed By Any Cryptocurrencies or Stablecoins Of Your Choice”
- “Load USDC/USDT or Cryptocurrencies Directly To The Card”
- “Open an Account in Five Minutes & Immediately Get Access to A Card”
- “Make Payment with Crypto Debit Card Anytime, Anywhere”
- “We Issue Cards Globally” or “We Are Able to Issue Cards Anywhere In the World”
- “We Prevent 100% of All Card-Related Frauds” or “Use Us with No Chargebacks Concern”
- “100% Success Rate Against All Chargeback Disputes” or “Guarantee to Improve Your Credits by Using Us”

8. Images/Graphics for Marketing

Graphic design elements that could negatively impact RedotPay or Visa are not allowed. Avoid using images that:

- Contain offensive racial, prejudicial, or religious content
- Depict sexual, obscene, or profane subject matter
- Include partial or full nudity
- Portray political content
- Depict violence
- Include alcohol, tobacco, drugs, firearms
- Reproduce currency
- Include solicitations for competitor card brands
- Feature celebrities/public figures without permission

9. Social Media and Website

All social media posts referencing RedotPay or Visa card brands must be submitted for prior review and approval. Co-branded products for RedotPay will also require review to ensure compliance with the contractual agreement.

Content must be respectful and non-offensive, and any false or defamatory statements must be removed promptly.

10. Blog Posts

“The opinions expressed in this article are the author’s own and do not reflect the view of RedotPay and/or Visa.”

11. Email Marketing Campaigns

Promotional email campaigns are subject to anti-spam laws. Best practices include:

- Avoid misleading email subjects.
- Accurately identify the sender.
- Obtain recipient consent before conducting campaigns.
- Provide opt-out options and honor requests within the required timeframe.

12. Testimonials, Endorsements, and Case Studies

Testimonials involving RedotPay or Visa require prior review before publication. Ensure that:

- Testimonials are voluntary and approved by the user.
- Any affiliation or compensation is disclosed.
- Online reviews should be honest and genuine.
- Experts used should have relevant expertise and approve quotes.
- Records of testimonials must be maintained.
- Data or statistics cited must be sourced accurately.
- Testimonials must not suggest or imply that our products can be used for illegal activities. Any endorsements should reflect lawful and appropriate usage of our services.

13. Public Events & Conferences

At public events/conferences:

- Submit marketing materials for review at least 60 days in advance.
- Avoid implying Visa endorsement.
- Do not misuse their brands or trademarks.
- Refrain from promoting or distributing cards in Prohibited Countries—contact RedotPay's team for more information on this list.
- Ensure personnel are trained on card program features; avoid false representations.

15. Summary Checklist

The marketing team should:

- Content does not market unlicensed stablecoins in Hong Kong.
- Ensure product details are accurate and backed by reputable sources.
- Clearly explain product terms and conditions.
- Avoid absolute terms and hard-to-prove claims.
- Refrain from making untrue statements/producing fake testimonials.
- Verify that all marketing materials do not associate our products with criminal activities or illegal uses

16. Language

Use English or an official language of the customer's country when marketing RedotPay's services.

17. Prohibited Marketing Channels

Do not market RedotPay's products via telemarketing/cold-calling without prior written approval.

18. Record Keeping and Monitoring

Maintain records of all marketing materials, customer data, and disclosures for at least 5 years. RedotPay may request copies for compliance checks. Failure to comply may result in suspension of card issuing capabilities.

19. Submission of Marketing Materials

Submit user interfaces, marketing, and public-facing advertising materials for review at least 14 days before launch via email (Marketing@RedotPay.com). Include full screenshots (preferably in PDF format) detailing the type of materials submitted.

RedotPay may require changes for compliance. It is your responsibility to update materials accordingly. Failure to update may result in suspension of your relationship with RedotPay.

20. Co-branding Guidelines

Specific instructions regarding co-branding must be followed:

1. Prepare draft designs for any co-branded cards according to the corporate style guides provided by RedotPay, ensuring they align with brand standards.
2. Changes to card names/designs require prior approval from RedotPay; no unilateral changes are permitted.
