PAID COLLABORATION

Paid collaboration policy

We are open to paid collaboration, but for new partners we usually start by checking trial performance first.

RedotPay currently offers long-term contracts mainly to KOLs we have worked with before. For new partners, we usually check trial performance first. If the results are good within 2-4 weeks after the first video or private group post, we can move to a long-term contract or discuss an upfront budget.

This is also how we work with larger creators, including influencers with 2-3 million followers: test the first campaign, review the data, and then decide the long-term budget.
